Ku Klux Klan In Oklahoma Unmasks Today By Orders Of Klan's Grand Dragon

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 11.—The Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma unmasked today on orders of Governor J. C Walton.

No robes, masks, or other regalia was worn at ceremonies and initiations last night.

Orders were issued by N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Klan for Oklahoma that no masked parades or meetings would be permitted, in accordance with the Governor's instructions.

Jewett's action relieved a tense situation, with the Governor prepared to send troops into every county where masked meetings were scheduled. Militiamen enforcing martial law at Tulsa, were ready to move over to Bristow, where an initiation was held last night. Just as the meeting was ready to get under way, orders were received from Jewett to unmask

Governor Walton today declared that the original of a photographic copy of an application purporting to show that he had sought membership in the Ku Klux Klan, was a forgery.

The Governor has made it plain that he is in the fight with the Klan to stay until the finish.

In a telegram to the Chamber of Commerce at Tulsa stating conditions under which martial law would be lifted from that city, the Governor said:

"There can not be two governments in Oklahoma while I am Governor."

He demanded that the Chamber of Commerce assist in "restoring the functioning of judicial and executive offices of your county impartially, and in the interests of all your citizens, instead of in the interest of a secret and invisible government."

Jack Dempsey Looks Good To Defend Championship Against Firpo Friday Night

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Reaching the end of his real training for the defense of his heavyweight title against Luis Firpo in New York Friday night, Jack Dempsey looks to be in condition good enough to retain his title.

Experienced experts like Jack McAuliffe, the retired lightweight champion, might detect in Dempsey's looks and action symptoms of unfavorable condition, but to less skilful eyes the champion seems to be ready in every respect.

He does look slender in the hips and legs, but he has worked to develop maximum speed and his boxing is almost perfect. He still misses many of his punches, but he always does in his training and it is apparent that he misses many times because he is trying to spare his sparring partners. His wind is good.

Some of the experts have detected a lack of the old Dempsey kick in his punching but the champion said this morning that he did not let himself go once in his training.

"I have to do my fighting in the ring and there is no need to fight my sparring partners. It takes too much out of me," Dempsey said.

Others have wondered why Dempsey has devoted so much time to the development of speed when fast work will not be such a big factor against a slow moving, awkward opponent like Firpo Dempsey intimated this morning that he plans to dazzle the big South American with a speedy attack and keep him going so fast that he will not be able to wind up and shoot over one of his rights and swings.

Dempsey, it has been noticed here and at Great Falls, is open to left hand punches and many right handers, but he does not show the same weakness when he is actually fighting. The champion is one of the few class leaders who does not care if he looks bad before a training camp crowd if he gets a good work out and achieves some particular plan that he might have in overcoming another weakness.

The champion seems to be absolutely without worry or concern. He is confident that he will succeed in retaining his title, but he is not under-estimating the ability of his opponent and he insists that he is going to have a hard fight.

When he was training in Great Falls he was obviously worried and he was very serious. Here he is the same playful, fun loving Dempsey that he was in Toledo and Atlantic City.

Dempsey said today that he still had a little cold and he was debating whether to take a chance on getting a hair cut, which he needs badly. He shaved this morning but the razor will not touch his face again until after the fight. Dempsey always fights with a heavy beard.

The champion wound up his real training yesterday with six rounds against George West, the British middleweight, Jack Burke, Frank Laureate and Alex Trambitis. Today he will do enough work to keep himself on edge and he will leave Thursday morning for New York, where he will remain until after the fight.

Dempsey is always conservative in making pre-battle statements. He has been asked by practically all of his visitors in how many rounds he would win and some of them have been more pointed and have sought information whether it would be in the first or second round.

"Firpo is a big enough fellow and fighters of his type do not usually go down in a round or two I'm not making any guess about the round but I feel confident that I will win," he said.

Dempsey says he now weighs about 195 pounds and probably he will fight at around 190 pounds.

GERMANS NOT YET PASSIVE IN RUHR

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—"Passive resistance has not been declared off. Such stories are pure nonsense.

"Germany will never capiculate."

The above statement was given to the United Press by the German Foreign Office Monday night. It refers to reports from London yesterday to the effect that the German Government had ordered cessation of resistance to the French in the Ruhr and was sending missaries to Paris.

World Cotton Shortage Seen In Bureau Figures

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Increased consumption together with a small surplus of stocks from last year may result in a world cotton shortage unless foreign cotton producing countries increase the output during the coming year, it was declared today in government statistics covering a world survey of cotton.

World diminished supplies of 6,400,000 bales at the beginning of the year Aug. 1, and the yield of American cotton more than one-half of the world supply for the current year forecast at 10,788,000 bales by the Department of Agriculture, over increasing consumption is what causes the danger of temporary shortage.

Cotton experts here predict that consumption during the current year will jump to a much greater figure than last year when 20,950,000 bales were consumed, an increase of more than 900,000 bales over the previous year.

One cotton expert explained that heavy inroads on the surplus stocks from last years may be a factor in creating a shortage. He declared the stocks "were uncomfortably low" Stocks on hand at the beginning of the current year were 6,400,000 bales the lowest figure in recent years, despite an increased production of nearly 3,000,000 bales.

The importance of increased foreign production during the present year is borne out in the fact that in the past year America's production increased 1,080,000 bales, while the combined increase of all other countries was only 2,709,000 bales.

Modern City To Rise From Ashes Of Smouldering Tokio

By CLARENCE DUBOSE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

TOKIO, Sept. 10.—An entirely modern Tokio is to rise from the ashes of disaster.

A plan similar to that used in building Washington, D. C. has been tentatively adopted.

Electrical, manufacturing and other industries already are placing orders for machines, equipment and food with United States firms—even before the last of Tokio's corpses have been cleared from the ruins laid by the quake of Sept. 1 and the resultant fires.

Reports from various devastated districts indicate the damage to property has been even greater than first reported.

A tremendous tidal wave which swept Kamakura immediately after Oshima, four miles off shore, erupted violently and disappeared beneath the sea, did incalculable damage, especially in the summer resorts to which many foreigners go each year.

Most of the foreigners there were saved.

Apparently about 250 foreigners lost their lives in Yokohama, a few Americans being among the number

Foreigner refugees of the quake and fire are being sent to Kobe Chinese ports, and America.

Millions of Japanese refugees have nowhere to go. Their homes are destroyed, but it is now believed that all will be fed.

A feeling already has grown up that Japanese-American friendship has been cemented by the disaster and the immediate aid given by the United States.

The possibility of a war has been removed forever, they are saying here.

PUBLIC HEALTH

W. R. Hodges, city sanitary supervisor, mentions a matter of much importance today, the urgent need of adhering to all proven rules of living that will protect the city against the menace of epidemic and disease.

The service of a sanitary agent will be valueless and nil in any community where no heed is paid to his advice and nothing done when instructions are issued. Cities throughout the nation, in no more unhealthful environs than Mexia, are constantly increasing their budgets for public health and safety, to be spent under the supervision of experts and specialists in charge of municipal health department. Health departments are being empowered to issue orders as binding as law. This is right. Riotous epidemics are more dangerous oftentimes than escaping criminals from a place of incarceration. Disease is just as much an enemy to society as war, as far as dire distress, suffering and death are involved. Poor health paralyzes progress. If a health department saves only one life during a year, it is well worth the operation expense, if that life is of your own boy's blood or companion as you pass this way.

An active, competent heath department is as much of a necessity in town and cities today as well organized and efficiently equipped and manned fire departments.

The Mexia Fire Department is constantly proving its efficiency and value to this city. The conflagration Sunday could easily have developed into a very disastrous blaze, but for the prompt response of a department that is constantly alert, and on the job, with a chief, Mr. Pittman, who knows his business well and who ever studies how the service of the department may be improved. 14 bales of cotton were partially destroyed in the midst of almost 3,000 others. The fire resulted from an act of a thoughtless urchin while playing with a number of other little fellows, far from the shadow of their own homes, beyond the direction and guidance of parent's hands. It became evident that a boy with a match is dangerous in a cotton yard. Unless the fire department had responded as it did, it is likely that hundreds of bales would have been totally destroyed and the entire section would have suffered. There are so many matters that could be discussed in connection with this story that it is probably well to let it go at this and permit the citizenship to draw further conclusions and morals.

The Rotary Club is to be commended by every citizen for its efforts to encourage school attendance. Such practical advice as "Go to school now, Mexia will need you later" should be heeded by every lad in the land. The club has paid its way already by stressing this subject of such timely importance today.

Moses may have been in the dark when the lights went out, but Mexia streets are almost in the same place when the lights come on.

Are you preparing to go on the Chamber of Commerce Trade excursion? If not, why not? You will be needed.

(State Press, Dallas News.)

Mexia Daily News: Savings deposits in the banks of the United States June 30 this year totaled $17,300,000,000, compared with $16,620,000,000 on the same date the previous year—a gain of $680,000,000 in twelve months, or 4 1 per cent. The average balance in all savings, State and national banks and trust companies approximate $500. The savings aggregate the highest ever known—and this in dry United States, which wets predicted a few years ago would be ruined by prohibition. It was prophesied that business would be prostrated if saloons were closed and men would be thrown out of employment. The country has had three and a half years of prohibition, and today there is a job at good wages for every man, and savings banks reflect such prosperity as was never before known. Over in wet England a million unemployed men want work and can not get it.

Steady, Editor Adair, steady. Prohibition is a fine thing and s. p. is for it, but England has had a little trouble or two besides liquor, you must remember, and it is barely possible that a part of England's unemployment is due to something else besides booze. A little thing like a World War, for instance, will upset economic conditions astonishingly. Some countries deflated in a hurry, as we started out to do, and some deflated more slowly, as poor old England seems to be doing. S p believes that England ought to lay off liquor. If necessary s. p would assist mildly in a campaign to bust up her breweries and wind up her wineries and dispel her distelleries. But s p wouldn't undertake out of his personal fortune to guarantee immediate prosperity thereafter to England. The United States is moderately prosperous and moderately sober now. But Turkey is sober and India is sober and Egypt is sober—and yet s. p. would rather live in Liverpool or New York or the Bahamas or several other foreign settlements of high alcoholic content than to live in a Mohammedan country where the firewater flows not and the foam moveth itself aright only on the fretting breakers of the thwarted sea. Sober we are and sober we must be, but if we account for all things through soberiety we shall certainly miss our way and fall in the ditch as surely as the drunkest tipster that ever swilled the devil's brew.

FRIENDS

(By FRED S. KARNER)

A great poet once wrote these words into a poem—"God could not be everywhere so he made Mother." This could be added to and say: "Mother could not be everywhere, so God made Friends."

In the care-free way of life when all is merry and sweet; when smiles come with laughter and tears are unknown, we look upon our friends as a necessary adjunct. We love them, yes, we mingle with them and miss them when they are not near. But when the good-byes come at the time to part, the feeling is that we will meet again and that expresses our feeling. But it takes the clouds of grief and sorrow to lift the veil from the eyes of companions and fellow-creatures; it takes the dark unknown ways of trouble to teach the true understanding that comes thru travail. There is no finer feeling than the one of Friendship—and friendship like love means sacrifice and thru sacrifice we are friends.

When the dark shadows fall and the curtain of despair is drawn close around you—you may pray and feel the Divine presence—but the medium thru which you get this tangible evidence of Divine companionship is thru no other than a Friend. The soft smile behind the tear, the warm hand grasp, the tender word of love and consolation and the real acts of administration—these are God's handiwork—but a friend brings them to you—for God makes friends. Those that have not traveled the ways of sorrow, whose feet have not felt the chill of the hard cobble stones on the road of despair, have not sipped at the divine chalice of Friendship—in which there are no dregs—but each drop sparkles with the delight of love—with the tingle of life and the cheer of a merry soul. Friends fill in this aching void in life and in place of it being just one Waterloo after another—they are the beacon light on the highway—guiding us on ever to safety and comfort. For at many times the rocks are not far ahead. The breakers of life lash you on and on; but with the grasp of a friend you know the life boat is near.

In friendship there is nothing ephemeral. It lives on and on. It breathes and has its being thru constant effort. It is here now—today, and forever.

Friendship never sleeps or dies and the pall of darkness cannot dim it's ardor—the chill of death its valor. For it passes on and on, from one to another, and the spirits in the unknown know of its tender mercy.

"The happiest business in the world,
Is that of making Friends.
And no "investment on the street"
Pays larger dividends.

For life is more than stocks and bonds,
And love than rate per cent.
And he who gives in Friendship's name,
Shall reap as he has spent."

Poor old Sam Miller of the Mineral Wells Index. Yes, he has no teeth. Had them all pulled a few days ago and now he is wondering how he is going to be able to devour his part of the eats when the old editors meet at Corpus Christi in November. Cheer up, Sam, if you will just take care of your gums and practice a little with those "store bought" teeth you are figuring on, you will be able to eat oysters and fish, or can at least enjoy the chowder. False teeth are not so bad—after you get used to 'em.

Havana, Cuba, has a hotel that will accommodate 1,000 guests. It was built—let's see, when was the eighteenth amendment adopted?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Don't know just when it was built, but we bet it is full to capacity since the passage of the 18th.

A writer says that, "life in a small burg may be as happy as in the largest city." Indeed it may. The happiest people on earth are the inhabitants of the little village back in the tall timber, where venerable patriarchs spend their afternoons whittling goods boxes in front of the grocery store; where the young folks still play "buffalo" and "little brass wagon;" and where the ladies still meet at quilting parties, dip snuff, and exchange ideas on the best method of curing and saving the pork.—Terrell Transcript.

Is it possible that there are still such places in this old world, since the coming of the gas wagon, and jazz, and such?

Tom Bell, one of the best known newspaper men in Texas, is going to be a candidate for comptroller next year. Tom is competent and worthy and the press boys ought to rally round his flag and help put him over.

Some Zoologist predicts that all animals will some time become extinct. Evidently he forgot the road hog.—Keose Cyclone.

And even the road hog is being slowly but surely driven out by the railroad locomotive—and other road hogs.

There is an ancient story about the formation of a militia company back in the old days when militia units were chiefly social organizations. In this particular case a constitution and by-laws were adopted consisting of just two sentences: "The name of this organization shall be 'The Bingville Rifles.' In case of war this organization shall immediately disband." The League of Nations appears to be something like the Bingville Rifles. It functions excellently until there is need for it. Then it ceases to operate.—Carthage (Mo.) Press.

As they used to say: "H—l on dress parade, but d— poor in action.

Down in the Rio Grande country—on the dry side of the famous river that is wet on one side and dry on the other—they are catching pink wildcats. No doubt this animal is a cross between the blind tiger and the white mule.

Henry Ford isn't stable either in word or deed. Some days he talks like a Democrat and acts like a Republican and at other times he talks like a Republican and acts like a Democrat.—Sam Miller in Mineral Wells Index.

The hand of Esau but the voice of Jacob, as it were.

These are school days and if we may be permitted to offer a suggestion to parents of the city, we would say, keep your boys off the streets. All the time of a lad is or should be devoted now to study of his school books. If your boy is at home devote his time to study you will know that he is preparing himself for future life. If he is out on the street, where many temptations and pitfalls await him, the chances are he will stray from the teachings of the mother and father. Of course, we would not suggest that no time be given to play and recreation which should be a part of every lad's daily life. But the place of the boy of tender years is under the parental roof.—Mckinney Courier Gazette.

And what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. The girls should be carefully looked after also. In these days of automobiles and jazz parties the girl is just as badly in need of attention as is the boy of the family.

TYPHOID FEVER PREVAILS IN POWELL OIL FIELDS

Dr. W. R. Hodges, city health officer, calls attention to the necessity of every precaution being taken to prevent typhoid fever breaking out here. At present there is not a Mexia case of the fever which is almost an epidemic in some parts of the State. However, there is one party who contracted the disease while coming from Arkansas, through Oklahoma, and who is now being treated here, and a second case which was sent to local hospital for teratment from Corsicana. It is said that there are many cases of typhoid in parts of the Powell oil field and those going there from here are urged to be very cautious as to the water they drink and the places they eat so that they may not contract the disease while there.

The following letter has been received by Dr. Hodges from the State Board of Health:

Dear Doctor:

Please herewith have your attention called to the recent epidemic of typhoid fever in one of our medium sized cities, which was directly traceable to a carrier in one of its daries.

This epidemic caused considerable loss of life, many persons to be in bed for several weeks, and the expenses that are incurred in such instances, to say nothing of the suffering, etc.

It is my suggestion that you make an inspection of dairies coming within your jurisdiction, urging that all employees or operators in connection with such daries have a complete examination made for communicable diseases which examination should include Wasserman, Slide, throat culture and miscroscopical examination for intestinal diseases.

There is a considerable amount of typhoid fever in this State now, and it falls our duty as Health Officers to warn the people against the ravages of this disease. I would suggest that you give out an interview to your local newspapers advising the people of the necessary precautions to take in preventing this disease.

Thanking you for your services, I am

Fraternally yours,
W. H. BEAZLEY,
State Health Officer.

The courtroom scene in "Lightnin," showing the Reno divorce mill in full operation ranks with the well-remembered courtroom scenes in "Madame X" and "The Butterfly on the Wheel" in dramatic intensity but its thrills are softened by flashes of humor. Charles E. Evans, of "A Parlor Match" fame, is appearing as the Reno judge with the all-star cast to be seen at the Opera House on Saturday, Sept. 29, matinee and night. The cast is the same seen recently at the Majestic theatre, Dallas.

Southern Presbyterian Women To Meet Next Week In Dallas In Connection With The Synod

(By MRS. A. B. RENNOLDS of Mexia Committee.)

Next week will be a busy one for the Southern Presbyterians of Texas. In addition to the meeting of Synod, announcement of which has been made, the Texas Synodical, an organization composed of the Presbyterian women of the state, will convene in Dallas at the same time, according to announcement, received here. An interesting program has been arranged and one of the principal topics for discussion will be the proposed movement for Christian education which will be launched as soon as synod makes the necessary arrangements. Dr. Henry H. Sweets, of Louisville, executive secretary of the committee on Christian education, will be one of the leading speakers. It is under his committee that the campaign in Texas will be conducted.

Officers of the synodical are Mrs. J. L. Brock, Bryan, President; Mrs. Martin Olson, Waco, vice president at large; Mrs. J. A. Templeton, Fort Worth, recording secretary; Mrs. Marshall Dansby, Bryan, corresponding secretary; Mrs. I. N. Wynn, Mineral Wells, treasurer; Mrs. S. T. Ludlow, Sherman, historian. Secretaries of various causes are Mrs. Edith B. Ramsey, San Antonio, foreign missions; Mrs. O. G. Kuler, Beautmont, Assembly's home missions; Mrs. P. G. Coleman, Colorado, other home missions; Mrs. J. A. Thompson, Taylor, Christian education; Mrs. C. C. Parks, Lancaster, young people; Mrs. W. L. Hickman, Texarkana, literature; Mrs. P. E. Bock, Mineral Wells, spiritual life.

Mrs. C. G. Dullnig, of San Antonio is honorary president. The committee on program consists of Mrs. P. E. Bock, Mineral Wells; Mrs. R. L. Ezzell, Dallas; Mrs. E. B. Ramsey, San Antnio.

One of the matters to come up will be the selection of a location for the establishment of the Texas-Mexican institution for Mexican girls There is a similar institution for boys at Kingsville under Dr. J. W. Skinner and it has met with such marked success that the Presbyterians have decided to establish one for girls also.

Parents who neglect their children's health are responsible for the poor record they make at school. Bad tonsils and adenoids keep hundreds back. Bring them to me for free examination. You may save yourself and your child years of sorrow when their trobule develops into more serious complications that may now be easily removed or remedied.—Dr. Cox, Teague-Mexia. 11-4

Bessie Bacon, to be seen with the all-star cast in "Lightnin" at the Opera House on Saturday, Sept. 29, matinee and night, has a record of 1500 performances in the famous comedy classic. She is a daughter of the late Frank Bacon and was prominent in his support during the first two of its three year's run at the Gaiety theatre, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. John Neece and children returned Tuesday from La Porte where they have been for a week. They will visit with Mrs. Neece's parents Mr. and Mrs. Tracy McKenzie for a few days before going to Dallas where they are making their future home.

Grocery Business Opens In Pittman Building Monday

E. J. Hitt and son Monday opened up a new grocery store at 104-6 North Central Avenue, in the Pittman building. Groceries and feed will both be sold from this one time popular location. In the old days, the block fronting the H. & T. C. railroad, just around the corner from Commerce, was the center of interest to most every farmer who came to town. Since then, no large and up to date grocery has been maintained at the location. Mr. Hitt believes that he can make the place popular again, both for his fellow townsmen and for the growing rural trade. He and his son assure the public that they will set up a stock of goods second to none; that they will give a service above criticism and at reasonable prices. The store is located in one of the fine new business blocks of the city, well lighted at night, on the paving and there is plenty of room for parking purposes all around.

Mr. Hitt is well known here, having been in business in the city for many years and is personally acquainted with a large portion of the population.

Flags At School Work of Members Of City Force

At the McKinney Street school today a beautiful flag is waving to the breezes from the top of a sturdy and tall flag pole. The various city employes, at the city hall, several weeks ago accepted the suggestion made by Principal George Perkins that preparations be made to display "Old Glory" properly this year before the eyes of the future citizens now in school. The members of the water works department supplied the poles and the fire department did the work of setting them up in cement and concrete. They were placed at both ward schools for whites. Superintendent C. A. Puckett expressed much gratification to the men for their thoughtful contribution to a better citizenship.

Con Dell Ellis of Thornton was a visitor Monday in Mexia.

G. A. Walters is in San Saba for a few days on business.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Rhodes left Sunday morning for Greenville.

Miss Betsye Walters left Tuesday to spend a few days in Waco.

Jeff Prendergast returned Monday from a week vacation in Houston and Galveston.

Atty. Wm. T. Jackson, of Groesbeck, was in Mexia, today on a business mission.

Miss Lura Davis of Jacksboro has taken up a position with Higdon-McElroy Company.

Good attendance, good singing, good preaching, and that piano player is a "bear." This revival is being conducted under the auspices of the Baptist church, but it is urged that all Christian people take part in it and make it a city-wide revival. WOMAN WEARS TROUSERS

By HARRY W. QUITMAN
(Cincinnati Enquirer)

"The woman who lives and poses as a man must wear skirts," said Judge Spiegel. Despite his ruling she said "I will not wear skirts, I would be a mark for every one on the street if I wore a dress. I am going to wait here until I get my trousers."

This extraordinary spectacle was presented in Police Court about seven years ago. It was only after much persuasion that the young woman was wrapped in a long raincoat concealing her skirt, led to a cab and taken to Alger's saloon, Reading road, near McMillan street, where she had been employed and where she had been living in male attire.

At the time the woman was arrested, it was alleged that when friends went to aid her during a spell of illness, she fought them. On being sent to the hospital, her sex was disclosed. Judge Spiegel, in dismissing the woman, informed her it was against the law for her to wear men's clothing. She listened in silence but as soon as she left the courtroom she said she would "defy the world," and she did, as she was seen wearing men's apparel long after her trial.

During the trial she wore a mother hubbard wrapper which was supplied by the police. She also wore men's clothes and a man's coat, making an odd contrast. She walked like a man, had the voice of a man and did the work of a man, and for many years she had been employed in a saloon adjacent to the old Fifth Street Horse Market. All of the old-time horse traders knew her but did not for a moment realize that he was other than man.

I represented her and in the argument that I made to the Court during her trial I maintained that the girl had a perfect legal right to wear men's attire if she elected to do so. There is no statute in the law books of Ohio prohibiting a woman from wearing men's clothing. The law exists to defend women in their right to wear any clothing they see fit if they wish to do so in an innocent and proper manner.

My client had run away from home, left her family and the clothing of males seemed the natural clothing for her. We were unable in the age of democracy to find a reason, convincing to ourselves or to the court, why she was impossible for her to find happiness in male clothing. Well, as I remember my appeal, and for which Dr. Mary Walker received a special dispensation from Congress.

Painful Rheumatic Swelling Disappear

Discoverer Tells Druggists Not To Take a Cent of Anyone's Money Unless Allenrhu Completely Banishes All Rheumatic Pains and Twinges.

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called ALLENRHU, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed druggists everywhere to dispense ALLENRHU with the understanding that if the first pint bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment. All druggists can supply you.—(Adv.)

Grounds Ready For Freestone Fair at Teague

By T. L. CHILDS

TEAGUE, Texas, Sept. 11.—The grounds at city park where the second annual Freestone county fair will open Wednesday for three days, are in ideal condition for this event which promises to eclipse all expectations. Holders of concessions at the fair are swarming over the grounds today preparing their stalls for three busy days. The high price of cotton, together with the fact that the yield in this county is exceeding early estimates and is above the average, causes a feeling of optimism on the part of the fair officials. So many enteries of live stock, poultry, etc., are already on the ground is also the basis for the opinion that an unusually good fair will be held. The poultry exhibit has been found to be so much more than anticipated that an exhibit shed for this alone was found necessary and has already been erected. Committees from several of the local churches have secured concesions to sell cold drinks and to serve lunches on the grounds, and their efforts are expected to insure a large attendance from people living in Teague.

YOUNG DEEP TEST QUIT FOR LUEL

TEAGUE, Texas, Sept. 11—The deep test for oil which is being drilled at Young, Freestone county, has been shut down for three days on account of lack of fuel. Drilling will be resumed Wednesday, the depth of the hole now being given as 3153 feet, and formation showing that the Woodbine sand is being approached. Some acreage has changed hands in this vicinity recently, and several royalty deals were reported Saturday.

Mrs C. W. Kennon returned Sunday night from Waco where she has has been in a sanitarium for treatment. Her mother, Mrs. W. R. Tyler, of Belton, accompanied her. Mrs Kennon is yet unable to be up.

Miss Ida Belle Hunt returned from Dallas, where she went to visit her sister, Miss Kate, who is in Baylor hospital and recovering from a very serious operation. Her many friends will be glad to learn she is on the road to recovery.

Harshness of Ordinary Calomel Eliminated in Pepsinated Calomel, New English Calomel Treatment for Torpid Liver.

How many times have you heard that "calomel is the only sure way to reach the liver?" Your grandfather knew it, your mother knew it, your doctor knows it—you know it yourself! It has all the cleansing power of English Calomel, (recognized as the standard of purity), with the soothing qualities of pepsin so that you get the full benefit of calomel without griping, nausea or discomfort. Farrell Sees Chance for Firpo to Win

By HENRY L. FERRALL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—Luis Firpo's only chance to win the heavyweight championship from Jack Dempsey rests in his superior strength, his size and in the natural fighting instinct with which he has been endowed.

Firpo has many bad faults as a boxer, many glaring defects as a technician and it remains to be seen if brute force can be made to exert its utmost with crude means of application.

The South American is a tremendous hitter with his right hand. It is almost safe to say that he will knock out any fighter who leaves himself open to the club-like swings of his powerful right. Had Firpo the knack of snapping his punches and hitting short, he might become a one-punch winner, but as long as he swings he must be content with the longer route to the same goal.

No matter where the punch lands, Dempsey will be hurt every time he finds himself in the way of that right hand. If he blocks the punches with his arms, there is enough drive in the South American to paralyze the muscles, if he gets several on the chin he will go down, and if he takes many in the body, he will be slowed up greatly.

Firpo's bulk will assert itself in the clinches if the South American is smart enough to hold and hang on the champion He is heavy enough and big enough to tire Dempsey considerably by forcing the champion to hold him up and push him back out of every clinch.

The brute strength of the challenger also will make itself felt during fighting at close range where Firpo, by superior power, should be able, if he knows how to apply it properly, to block Dempsey with one hand and use the other on the back and under the ear as he has been doing in several of his fights.

Firpo is said to be fond of the "rabbit-punch" but it is not directed at the base of the skull, as Dempsey uses it. It is a short punch snapped in a clinch at a point right under the ear, along the jaw bone A punch there leads to the same brain nevres that can be reached with a blow on the "button"

Firpo knocked out Brennan with a punche under the ear and he so deadened the muscles of Jess Willard with the same kind of a punch that Willard couldn't take off the floor even though he possessed all his mental faculties

Firpo is a crude boxer His left swing is the next thing to no good whatever It is argued that Carpentier had nothing but a right hand and that when it found Dempsey's jaw in the second round of their fight that it nearly knocked him out.

Carpentier had a left hand, however. There may not have been much power in it, but he knew how to jab and hook with it and he knew also how to block and defend himself with it.

Firpo can't block Dempsey's punches with his jaw. He will have to have some kind of a defense, and that defense will have to consist of more than a backward lean on his feet. The South American's trainer says that when Firpo stretches himself to his full height, tucks in his chin and leans back, Dempsey can't reach him. That was just what Jess Willard believed and Dempsey reached his jaw and floored him with the very first punch that he started.

A PRETTY LUNCHEON FOR BRIDE-ELECT

A most delightful affair was that which was given by Mrs. Blodgett on Monday for her daughter Leonora. The guest numbered six and were ushered into the dining room where an attractive scene greeted their eyes. The centerpiece was a shower boquet of brides roses and maiden hair fern and lilies of the valley. The guests found their places by dainty place cards which were suspended with a pink ribbon from the chanrilier and on the cards was a verse which read, "Pull my heart string, and you will see my mate to be." Much to their surprise, when they pulled the pink ribbon a little groom with the name, Tommy Costello, fell from the chandilier. Lunchoen was served and the first course was fruit cocktail. The second course consisted of potato chips, olives, pickles, nut sandwiches, salted almonds, chicken salad and ice tea Then the last course was pink brick ice cream and angle food squares with pink hearts embossed in icing.

Those who enjoyed this delightful affair were Misses Josephine Mackey, Louise Anderson, Betsye Walters, Josie Lee Maddox.

Billy Murphy is leaving this week for New York and we all hope it will not be for good.

Fined For Drunk Reckless Driving

The police blotter this morning fined yesterday for being drunk and shows that two men were arrested and reckless driving, the amount each paid passed a law making, FqA being $35.90. The last legislature passed a law making it a felony to drive a car while intoxicated, and this makes it a grand jury case, regardless of the fact that a fine has been paid in the city court. This is a wise law and should be enforced to the letter, because a drunk man at the wheel of an automobile is a menace to life and limb and he should be suppressed even if he has to be sent to the pen.

YOUNG DISTRICT IN FREESTONE COUNTY TO VOTE ON BONDS

TEAGUE, Texas, Sept. 11.—The Commissioners Court in session at Fairfield today ordered an election to be held in the Young precinct for the issuance of $25,000 in bonds for the purpose of building roads. Young is situated in the extreme northeastern corner of Freestone county, and there has never been a bond election in that district.

COMING COUNCIL TO MARK NEW ERA IN CATHOLICISM

By CAMILLO CIANAFARRA
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

ROME (By Mail to United Press.)—As is its custom and in keeping with its old traditions, the Holy See is gradually acquainting the world with the true purport and importance of the event which, under the name of Ecumenic Council, is destined to mark a new era in the history of the church and, incidentally, detain in Rome for a long time all the American cardinals and bishops.

The announcement of the Ecumenic Council was made in few words by the Pope himself in allocution delivered at the last secret consistory. The announcement gave no details and it was a month later that the church organs announced that the coming council would easily eclipse the last one, that of 1869-70.

A Long Council.

Such councils, which only the Pope can call and are actually called only when grave questions affecting the church are to be discussed and settled, are very rare events in the history of the Catholic church. In two thousand years only about twenty are registered and the most important one was that of Trent, called by Clement VII. The church was then going through the gravest crisis in its history owing to the advent of Lutheranism and the Reformation. The council, which lasted from 1545 to 1563, and in the course of which five Popes died, sifted the whole dogmatic matter of the church and drafted out the present constitution and the largest part of the canon laws.

The second long one was that of Basle, which sat from 1431 to 1443.

As to the agenda and duration of the coming council, very little has so far been revealed. Catholic officials say that the Pope is enthusiastic and determined to hold the council during the Holy Year.

The opening date is also uncertain, while the Pope has repeatedly told to his intimates that he will personally welcome all the bishops of the world who will visit Rome in 1925, which is a holy year, and will afterward set the opening day, 1925, has been selected as an appropriate day for the opening of the council.

As to the agenda, very little has been revealed except that this time no question will be discussed, and the only object of the council is to approve the definition of the Assumption of the Virgin.

Last One Hurried.

During the last few days Vatican circles have been busy at preparing important documents. As is known, the council of 1870, by also ratifying the dogma of the Immaculate Conception and prohibiting that of the infallibility of the Pope, closed its work in September in great hurry, owing to the capture of the city by the Italian troops and the dethronization of the Pontiff as ruler of the Pontifical States. The council branded the fact as an act of military robbery, and practically bound Pope Pius IX to defend to the last the patrimony of the church.

Vatican prelates explain that the Roman question dates from that day, and that it is only another ecumenic council that can authorize the Pope to renounce the territories once belonging to the church and empower him to sign a treaty of peace with Italy.

Harmonize Policies.

But will the Roman question be placed on the agenda? The question is hard to answer today, but as the council will undoubtedly revise the policies of the church from the point of view of harmonizing them with modern times, a decision on the subject is extremely likely.

As to the duration of the coming council, very little can be said now. The one that closed in 1870 opened late in 1869 and would have continued for some months yet had not the Italian troops entered Rome on the 20th of September. What is certain is that over 1,200 bishops out of the 1,500 existing will be in Rome, and that the council will be presided over by the Pope himself. The proceedings will be strictly secret.

Trousers And Their Upkeep In Round Figures

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 11.—Trousers worn by Marquette University students here cost $180,000 a year. It costs only $1,125 to hold them up.

This is a part of the startling information given out through a pamphlet issued recently by the University Press to its advertisers in the city. The report was compiled by students in different departments of the school and shows that $2,500,000 is a conservative estimate for the total buying power of the student body of 4,300.

Because of the many social functions, at which the students want to appear in their best, clothes make up the biggest item, which is $180,000, while only $1,725 is spent for belts, suspenders, safety pins and other contrivances to hold up trousers.

Eight thousand six hundred pairs of shoes are worn out every year, which adds about $55,000 to the total. It costs students $4,000 more to keep their hands warm and free from being chapped, and $3,000 for hats and caps. Neckties add another $15,000 and their underwear increases the amount by $7,000. About $21,000 is paid out for handkerchiefs.

Although there are but few coeds at the university, the reports without, including the different kinds of cloth-ing, says it costs about $50,000 to keep Marquette coeds in style during a school year.

Soap is listed at costing $1,300, while shaving cream comes to around $5,100. The report figures that each student pays out about $1 a year for calcium. This, of course, does not include the coeds. According to the report, Milwaukee theatres get about $125,000 worth of business during the school year, while confectioners get something like $43,000. Cigarettes are also a big item, being listed at $78,750, and other tobacco at $10,000.

Dempsey and Firpo Savage in Ring

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Crowd psychology, which was expected to have such a big influence over Jack Dempsey when he fought Georges Carpentier in Jersey City, and which did not, hardly will be any kind of an important factor in the champion's coming fight with Luis Firpo, the South American giant.

The fight of neither boxer should be affected by the attitude taken or voiced by the spectators. Firpo will not be able to understand any verbal blows that might be tossed at him from the house, and Dempsey will not give a darn if he is given the razz.

In one respect, Dempsey will not be affected by the reception that he is given. If he should get the jeers and hisses that came after he had been presented to the throng in Jersey City, he will fight just the same. But if strange sounds of a monstrous cheer should come to him, he may fight a tremendously better fight.

Since he won the championship by stopping Jess Willard in 1919 at Toledo, nothing but the raucous notes of the razz have been directed at him. Slacker charges resulting from what he did, or didn't do, during the war and the heavy financial demands he exacted for his services have made him intensely unpopular.

Whether this spirit of animosity on the part of the public is just, is beside the point. The fact is that he has been razzed every time he made his appearance in the ring. He was thought so little of by the people around Shelby that the announcer almost forgot to introduce him after he had devoted several minutes to the glorification of Gibbons.

He was introduced second at Jersey City and after hearing the greatest ovation ever given to a foreign athlete in the United States, he had to stand up under a barrage of boos and jeers when he was introduced as the American defender of the world's championship.

Through it all, Dempsey remained unmoved. Stung terribly as he must have been around the heart, the champion went out and did his stuff and even after winning it was very little of a hand he ever got.

Many followers of boxing believe that Dempsey will be the popular fighter when he appears for his bout with Firpo. The South American has been held up as a penurious individual, out for the money alone. He hasn't the war record that Carpentier had to endear himself to the professional patriots that have been maligning Dempsey and perhaps the crowd will look upon and support Dempsey as the American representative against a foreigner.

After recovering from the shock that would attend a real good reception, if he gets it, Dempsey probably would fight as he never fought before.

WOULD-BE LADY RAFFLES IS CAUGHT IN HOME OF CORSICANA OFFICER

CORSICANA, Texas, Sept. 11.—A would-be lady Raffles, well dressed and pretty, selected the wrong room to burglarize Sunday morning when she entered the home of Deputy Sheriff E. W. Warnell and started a systematic search of the officer's trousers, which were near his bed. The officer awoke, finding the stranger in his room. She attempted to escape, but Warnell, in the twinkling of an eye, had her handcuffed to the bed post and then proceeded to don his wearing apparel, after which the fair prowler was brought to the county jail, where she now faces a charge of burglary. The captive gave her name and said she arrived from Waco Sunday morning, accompanied by a man, who, she says, told her he was staying at the Warnell home. A search of the prisoner's purse resulted in the finding of between $40 and $50, officers said. The man has not been located.

LAY OFF DEADLY JAKE

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 10.—Take a tip from E. A. Turner, prohibition enforcement agent, and "lay off" Jamaica ginger as a beverage.

"There'll be a funeral soon," is the cheery word to confirmed drinkers of the "liquid fire," from Turner.

DIVORCES ON DECREASE

EASTLAND, Texas, Sept. 10.—Litigation in the district courts here shows a considerable increase over last year with an average of 100 cases filed each month.

Divorces are on the decrease, however, and the majority of the cases are suits on notes and debts, according to the county clerk's office.

THE GREAT SCOURGE OF HALF TRUTHS

By JOHN OAKWOOD

A soap-boxer pointed at a great factory. "Who built that factory? Workmen!" he yelled. "Who run the machines? Workmen! Who got the profits? Capitalists!"

* * *

The soap-boxer told a half truth that amounted to a whole lie. His listeners did not know that that particular factory, typical of thousands of others, was a complete refutation of the lie—if only the other half of the truth were told.

* * *

It is true the factory was Capitalized—for a million dollars. The net profits gave annual dividends of 6 per cent, or $60,000; to the stockholders. All that was true.

* * *

But it was also true that the million dollar capital was divided up into ten thousand shares of $100 each. The ownership of these shares was distributed among about one thousand people. Several hundred of them were workmen in the factory. They were saving out of their weekly wages and buying shares on the installment plan. They were Capitalists.

* * *

It was likewise true that shares were also owned by workmen in other factories, by clerical workers and by small merchants. A good many were also owned by widows and orphans whose modest estates had been wisely invested for them by bankers and trustees. They were Capitalists.

* * *

It was also true that the factory corporation had issued a million dollars in bonds to raise funds to buy the material and pay the wages of workmen to build the factory. These bonds were owned not by capitalists but by many people of small means who had saved out of their wages and salaries. They were Capitalists.

* * *

And it was also true that part of the profits of the factory were being used to pay the bonds. [illegible] to pay dividends on [illegible] good many dollars to pay taxes to the [illegible]

Boys Start What Might Have Been A Very Big Fire

Fire broke out in the local cotton yard Sunday afternoon about 4:00 o'clock and when the department got there, which was a few minutes later it found fourteen bales blazing. Quick and efficient work resulted in the extinguishing of the fire before it had done a great deal of damage. The fourteen bales were partially destroyed. According to Chief Pittman the loss was around $500. It could easily have been many times that amount. About 3,000 bales of cotton were stored in the yard at the time.

It is reported that some little boys were playing ball around the yard when one of them, a nine year old lad, struck a match and let it fall in between two bales. In a second the flames were leaping up. The boys at first tried to put it out themselves. Finally more mature eyes saw it and turned in the alarm. It is said the boy's parents did not know he was away from home. He was more than a quarter of a mile distant from his own home at the time. The other children, too, were likely as much to blame as was he, it is claimed.

Ku Klux Klan In Oklahoma Unmasks Today By Orders Of Klan's Grand Dragon

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 11.—The Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma unmasked today on orders of Governor J. C. Walton.

No robes, masks, or other regalia was worn at ceremonies and initiations last night.

Orders were issued by N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Klan for Oklahoma that no masked parades or meetings would be permitted, in accordance with the Governor's instructions.

Jewett's action relieved a tense situation, with the Governor prepared to send troops into every county where masked meetings were scheduled. Militiamen enforcing martial law at Tulsa, were ready to move over to Bristow, where an initiation was held last night. Just as the meeting was ready to get under way, orders were received from Jewett to unmask.

Governor Walton today declared that the original of a photographic copy of an application purporting to show that he had sought membership in the Ku Klux Klan, was a forgery.

The Governor has made it plain that he is in the fight with the Klan to stay until the finish.

In a telegram to the Chamber of Commerce at Tulsa stating conditions under which martial law would be lifted from that city, the Governor said:

"There can not be two governments in Oklahoma while I am Governor."

He demanded that the Chamber of Commerce assist in "restoring the functioning of judicial and executive offices of your county impartially, and in the interests of all your citizens, instead of in the interest of a secret and invisible government."

AMBASSADORS TAKE UP ANOTHER PHASE OF FOREIGN DIFFICULTY

PARIS, Sept. 11.—The Council of Ambassadors is considering the question of expenses for Italy's occupation of Corfu. It is believed that the matter will be referred to the Hague. Italy, holding Greece responsible for the assassination, presented Greece a bill for costs of occupation. The ambassadors are worried over deciding on the date when Italy shall evacuate the island. Mussolini may insist that the guilty parties be punished before he will withdraw. England and France are urging Italy to get out soon as Greece undertakes serious inquiry into the assassinations.

EX-SOLDIER FACES ARSON CHARGE

DECATUR, Tex., Sept. 11.—Allan Dean, ex-soldier, was under arrest here today on a charge of arson following the discovery of the charred body of John Jones, farm hand, in the smoldering ruins of a house on W. H. Miles' farm near here.

According to authorities, Dean denied any knowledge of the fire and said the first he knew of the tragedy was the next morning. It was said by officials that Dean had quarreled with an employe at the Miles' farm over the employe's attentions to Miss Elizabeth Miles.

On the Mexican side of the river streams were flooded as result of recent torrential rains. Monterey, Mexico, reported 10.5 inches of rain had fallen there within the last three days.

He got away with his bluff.

Jack Dempsey Looks Good To Defend Championship Against Firpo Friday Night

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Reaching the end of his real training for the defense of his heavyweight title against Luis Firpo in New York Friday night, Jack Dempsey looks to be in condition good enough to retain his title.

Experienced experts like Jack McAuliffe, the retired lightweight champion, might detect in Dempsey's looks and action symptoms of unfavorable condition, but to less skillful eyes the champion seems to be ready in every respect.

He does look slender in the hips and legs, but he has worked to develop maximum speed and his boxing is almost perfect. He still misses many of his punches, but he always does in his training and it is apparent that he misses many times because he is trying to spare his sparring partners. His wind is good.

Some of the experts have detected a lack of the old Dempsey kick in his punching but the champion said this morning that he did not let himself go once in his training.

"I have to do my fighting in the ring and there is no need to fight my sparring partners. It takes too much out of me," Dempsey said.

Others have wondered why Dempsey has devoted so much time to the development of speed when fast work will not be such a big factor against a slow moving, awkward opponent like Firpo. Dempsey intimated this morning that he plans to dazzle the big South American with a speedy attack and keep him going so fast that he will not be able to wind up and shoot over one of his rights and swings.

Dempsey, it has been noticed here and at Great Falls, is open to left hand punches and many right handers, but he does not show the same weakness when he is actually fighting. The champion is one of the few class leaders who does not care if he looks bad before a training camp crowd if he gets a good work out and achieves some particular plan that he might have in overcoming another weakness.

The champion seems to be absolutely without worry or concern. He is confident that he will succeed in retaining his title, but he is not under-estimating the ability of his opponent and he insists that he is going to have a hard fight.

When he was training in Great Falls he was obviously worried and he was very serious. Here he is the same playful, fun loving Dempsey that he was in Toledo and Atlantic City.

Dempsey said today that he still had a little cold and he was debating whether to take a chance on getting a hair cut, which he needs badly. He shaved this morning but the razor will not touch his face again until after the fight. Dempsey always fights with a heavy beard.

The champion wound up his real training yesterday with six rounds against George West, the British middleweight, Jack Burke, Frank Laureate and Alex Trambitis. Today he will do enough work to keep himself on edge and he will leave Thursday morning for New York, where he will remain until after the fight.

Dempsey is always conservative in making pre-battle statements. He has been asked by practically all of his visitors in how many rounds he would win and some of them have been more pointed and have sought information whether it would be in the first or second round.

"Firpo is a big enough fellow and fighters of his type do not usually go down in a round or two. I'm not making any guess about the round but I feel confident that I will win," he said.

Dempsey says he now weighs about 195 pounds and probably he will fight at around 190 pounds.

The above statement was given to the United Press by the German Foreign Office Monday night. It refers to reports from London yesterday to the effect that the German Government had ordered cessation of resistance to the French in the Ruhr and was sending missaries to Paris.

World Cotton Shortage Seen In Bureau Figures

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Increased consumption together with a small surplus of stocks from last year may result in a world cotton shortage unless foreign cotton producing countries increase their output during the coming year, it was revealed today in government statistics covering a world survey of cotton.

With a diminished surplus of 6,400,000 bales at the beginning of the year, Aug. 1, and the yield of American cotton, more than one-half of the world supply for the current year forecast at 10,788,000 bales by the Department of Agriculture, over increasing consumption is what causes danger of temporary shortage.

Cotton experts here predict that consumption during the current year will jump to a much greater figure than last year when 20,950,000 bales were consumed, an increase of more than 900,000 bales over the previous year.

One cotton expert explained that heavy inroads on the surplus stocks from last years may be a factor in creating a shortage. He declared the stocks "were uncomfortably low" Stocks on hand at the beginning of the current year were 6,400,000 bales the lowest figure in recent years, despite an increased production of nearly 3,000,000 bales.

The importance of increased foreign production during the present year is borne out in the fact that in the past year America's production increased 1,080,000 bales, while the combined increase of all other countries was only 2,799,000 bales.

Modern City To Rise From Ashes Of Smouldering Tokio

By CLARENCE DUBOSE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

TOKIO, Sept. 10.—An entirely modern Tokio is to rise from the ashes of disaster.

A plan similar to that used in building Washington, D. C. has been tentatively adopted.

Electrical, manufacturing and other industries already are placing orders for machines, equipment and food with United States firms—even before the last of Tokio's corpses have been cleared from the ruins laid by the quake of Sept. 1 and the resultant fires.

Reports from various devastated districts indicate the damage to property has been even greater than first reported.

A tremendous tidal wave which swept Kamakura immediately after Oshima, four miles off shore, erupted violently and disappeared beneath the sea, did incalculable damage, especially in the summer resorts to which many foreigners go each year.

Most of the foreigners there were saved.

Apparently about 250 foreigners lost their lives in Yokohama, a few Americans being among the number.

Foreigner refugees of the quake and fire are being sent to Kobe, Chinese ports, and America.

Millions of Japanese refugees have nowhere to go. Their homes are destroyed, but it is now believed that all will be fed.

A feeling already has grown up that Japanese-American friendship has been cemented by the disaster and the immediate aid given by the United States.

The possibility of a war has been removed forever, they are saying here.

PUBLIC HEALTH

W. R. Hodges, city sanitary supervisor, mentions a matter of much importance today, the urgent need of adhering to all proven rules of living that will protect the city against the menace of epidemic and disease.

The service of a sanitary agent will be valueless and nil in any community where no heed is paid to his advice and nothing done when instructions are issued. Cities throughout the nation, in no more unhealthful environs than Mexia, are constantly increasing their budgets for public health and safety, to be spent under the supervision of experts and specialists in charge of municipal health departments. Health departments are being empowered to issue orders as binding as law. This is right. Riotous epidemics are more dangerous oftentimes than escaping criminals from a place of incarceration. Disease is just as much an enemy to society as war, as far as dire distress, suffering and death are involved. Poor health paralyzes progress. If a health department saves only one life during a year, it is well worth the operation expense, if that life is of your own life's blood or companion as you pass this way.

An active, competent health department is as much of a necessity in towns and cities today as well organized and efficiently equipped and manned fire departments.

The Mexia Fire Department is constantly proving its efficiency and value to this city. The conflagration Sunday could easily have developed into a very disastrous blaze, but for the prompt response of a department that is constantly alert, and on the job, with a chief, Mr. Pittman, who knows his business well and who ever studies how the service of the department may be improved. 14 bales of cotton were partially destroyed in the midst of almost 3,000 others. The fire resulted from an act of a thoughtless urchin while playing with a number of other little fellows, far from the shadow of their own homes, beyond the direction and guidance of parent's hands. It became evident that a boy with a match is dangerous in a cotton yard. Unless the fire department had responded as it did, it is likely that hundreds of bales would have been totally destroyed and the entire section would have suffered. There are so many matters that could be discussed in connection with this story that it is probably well to let it go at this and permit the citizenship to draw further conclusions and morals.

The Rotary Club is to be commended by every citizen for its efforts to encourage school attendance. Such practical advise as "Go to school now, Mexia will need you later" should be heeded by every lad in the land. The club has paid its way already by stressing this subject of such timely importance today.

Moses may have been in the dark when the lights went out, but Mexia streets are almost in the same place when the lights come on.

Are you preparing to go on the Chamber of Commerce Trade excursion? If not, why not? You will be needed.

(State Press, Dallas News.)

Mexia Daily News: Savings deposits in the banks of the United States June 30 this year totaled $17,300,000,000, compared with $16,620,000,000 on the same date the previous year—a gain of $680,000,000 in twelve months, or 4.1 per cent. The average balance in all savings, State and national banks and trust companies approximate $500. The savings aggregate the highest ever known—and this in dry United States, which wets predicted a few years ago would be ruined by prohibition. It was prophesied that business would be prostrated if saloons were closed and men would be thrown out of employment. The country has had three and a half years of prohibition, and today there is a job at good wages for every man, and savings banks reflect such prosperity as was never before known. Over in wet England a million unemployed men want work and can not get it.

Steady, Editor Adair, steady. Prohibition is a fine thing and s. p. is for it, but England has had a little trouble or two besides liquor, you must remember, and it is barely possible that a part of England's unemployment is due to something else besides booze. A little thing like a World War, for instance, will upset economic conditions astonishingly. Some countries deflated in a hurry, as we started out to do, and some deflated more slowly, as poor old England seems to be doing. S. p. believes that England ought to lay off liquor. If necessary s. p. would assist mildly in a campaign to bust up her breweries and wind up her wineries and dispel her distelleries. But s. p. wouldn't undertake out of his personal fortune to guarantee immediate prosperity thereafter to England. The United States is moderately prosperous and moderately sober now. But Turkey is sober and India is sober and Egypt is sober—and yet s. p. would rather live in Liverpool or New York or the Bahamas or several other foreign settlements of high alcoholic content than to live in a Mohammedan country where the firewater flows not and the foam moveth itself aright only on the fretting breakers of the thwarted sea. Sober we are and sober we must be, but if we account for all things through soberiety we shall certainly miss our way and fall in the ditch as surely as the drunkest tipster that ever swilled the devil's brew.

FRIENDS

(By FRED S. KARNER)

A great poet once wrote these words into a poem—"God could not be everywhere so he made Mother." This could be added to and say: "Mother could not be everywhere, so God made Friends."

In the care-free way of life when all is merry and sweet; when smiles come with laughter and tears are unknown, we look upon our friends as a necessary adjunct. We love them, yes, we mingle with them and miss them when they are not near. But when the good-byes come at the time to part, the feeling is that we will meet again and that expresses our feeling. But it takes the clouds of grief and sorrow to lift the veil from the eyes of companions and fellow-creatures; it takes the dark unknown ways of trouble to teach the true understanding that comes thru travail. There is no finer feeling than the one of Friendship—and friendship like love means sacrifice and thru sacrifice we are friends.

When the dark shadows fall and the curtain of despair is drawn close around you—you may pray and feel the Divine presence—but the medium thru which you get this tangible evidence of Divine companionship is thru no other than a Friend. The soft smile behind the tear, the warm hand grasp, the tender word of love and consolation and the real acts of administration—these are God's handiwork—but a friend brings them to you—for God makes friends. Those that have not traveled the ways of sorrow, whose feet have not felt the chill of the hard cobble stones on the road of despair, have not sipped at the divine chalice of Friendship—in which there are no dregs—but each drop sparkles with the delight of love—with the tingle of life and the cheer of a merry soul. Friends fill in this aching void in life and in place of it being just one Waterloo after another—they are the beacon light on the highway—guiding us on ever to safety and comfort. For at many times the rocks are not far ahead. The breakers of life lash you on and on; but with the grasp of a friend you know the life boat is near.

In friendship there is nothing ephemeral. It lives on and on. It breathes and has its being thru constant effort. It is here now—today, and forever.

Friendship never sleeps or dies and the pall of darkness cannot dim it's ardor—the chill of death its valor. For it passes on and on, from one to another, and the spirits in the unknown know of its tender mercy.

"The happiest business in the world,
Is that of making Friends.
And no "investment on the street"
Pays larger dividends.

For life is more than stocks and bonds,
And love than rate per cent.
And he who gives in Friendship's name,
Shall reap as he has spent."

Poor old Sam Miller of the Mineral Wells Index. Yes, he has no teeth. Had them all pulled a few days ago and now he is wondering how he is going to be able to devour his part of the eats when the old editors meet at Corpus Christi in November. Cheer up, Sam, if you will just take care of your gums and practice a little with those "store bought" teeth you are figuring on, you will be able to eat oysters and fish, or can at least enjoy the chowder. False teeth are not so bad—after you get used to 'em.

Havana, Cuba, has a hotel that will accommodate 1,000 guests. It was built—let's see, when was the eighteenth amendment adopted?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Don't know just when it was built, but we bet it is full to capacity since the passage of the 18th.

A writer says that, "life in a small burg may be as happy as in the largest city." Indeed it may. The happiest people on earth are the inhabitants of the little village back in the tall timber, where venerable patriarchs spend their afternoons whittling goods boxes in front of the grocery store; where the young folks still play "buffalo" and "little brass wagon;" and where the ladies still meet at quilting parties, dip snuff, and exchange ideas on the best method of curing and saving the pork.—Terrell Transcript.

Is it possible that there are still such places in this old world, since the coming of the gas wagon, and jazz, and such?

Tom Bell, one of the best known newspaper men in Texas, is going to be a candidate for comptroller next year. Tom is competent and worthy and the press boys ought to rally round his flag and help put him over.

Some Zoologist predicts that all animals will some time become extinct. Evidently he forgot the road hog.—Kosse Cyclone.

And even the road hog is being slowly thinned out by the railroad locomotive—and other road hogs.

There is an ancient story about the formation of a militia company back in the old days when militia units were chiefly social organizations. In this particular case a constitution and by-laws were adopted consisting of just two sentences: "The name of this organization shall be 'The Bingville Rifles.' In case of war this organization shall immediately disband." The League of Nations appears to be something like the Bingville Rifles. It functions excellently until there is need for it. Then it ceases to operate.—Carthage (Mo.) Press.

Henry Ford isn't stable either in word or deed. Some days he talks like a Democrat and acts like a Republican and at other times he talks like a Republican and acts like a Democrat.—Sam Miller in Mineral Wells Index.

The hand of Esau but the voice of Jacob, as it were.

These are school days and if we may be permitted to offer a suggestion to parents of the city, we would say, keep your boys off the streets. All the time of a lad is or should be devoted now to study of his school books. If your boy is at home devoting his time to study you will know that he is preparing himself for future life. If he is out on the street, where many temptations and pitfalls await him, the chances are he will stray from the teachings of the mother and father. Of course, we would not suggest that no time be given to play and recreation which should be a part of every lad's daily life. But the place of the boy of tender years is under the parental roof.—Mckinney Courier Gazette.

And what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. The girls should be carefully looked after also. In these days of automobiles and jazz parties the girl is just as badly in need of attention as is the boy of the family.

TYPHOID FEVER PREVAILS IN POWELL OIL FIELDS

Dr. W. R. Hodges, city health officer, calls attention to the necessity of every precaution being taken to prevent typhoid fever breaking out here. At present there is not a Mexia case of the fever which is almost an epidemic in some parts of the State. However, there is one party who contracted the disease while coming from Arkansas, through Oklahoma, and who is now being treated here, and a second case which was sent to local hospital for teratment from Corsicana. It is said that there are many cases of typhoid in parts of the Powell oil field and those going there from here are urged to be very cautious as to the water they drink and the places they eat so that they may not contract the disease while there.

The following letter has been received by Dr. Hodges from the State Board of Health:

Dear Doctor:

Please herewith have your attention called to the recent epidemic of typhoid fever in one of our medium sized cities, which was directly traceable to a carrier in one of its daries.

This epidemic caused considerable loss of life, many persons to be in bed for several weeks, and the expenses that are incurred in such instances, to say nothing of the suffering, etc.

It is my suggestion that you make an inspection of dairies coming within your jurisdiction, urging that all employees or operators in connection with such daries have a complete examination made for communicable diseases which examination should include Wasserman, Slide, throat culture and miscroscopical examination for intestinal diseases.

There is a considerable amount of typhoid fever in this State now, and it falls our duty as Health Officers to warn the people against the ravages of this disease. I would suggest that you give out an interview to your local newspapers advising the people of the necessary precautions to take in preventing this disease.

Thanking you for your services, I am

Fraternally yours,
W. H. BEAZLEY,
State Health Officer.

The courtroom scene in "Lightnin," showing the Reno divorce mill in full operation ranks with the well-remembered courtroom scenes in "Madame X" and "The Butterfly on the Wheel" in dramatic intensity but its thrills are softened by flashes of humor. Charles E. Evans, of "A Parlor Match" fame, is appearing as the Reno judge with the all-star cast to be seen at the Opera House on Saturday, Sept. 29, matinee and night. The cast is the same seen recently at the Majestic theatre, Dallas.

Southern Presbyterian Women To Meet Next Week In Dallas In Connection With The Synod

(By MRS. A. B. RENNOLDS of Mexia Committee.)

Next week will be a busy one for the Southern Presbyterians of Texas. In addition to the meeting of Synod, announcement of which has been made, the Texas Synodical, an organization composed of the Presbyterian women of the state. will convene in Dallas at the same time, according to announcement received here. An interesting program has been arranged and one of the principal topics for discussion will be the proposed movement for Christian education which will be launched as soon as synod makes the necessary arrangements. Dr. Henry H. Sweets, of Louisville, executive secretary of the committee on Christian education, will be one of the leading speakers. It is under his committee that the campaign in Texas will be conducted.

Officers of the synodical are Mrs. J. L. Brock, Bryan, President; Mrs. Martin Olson, Waco, vice president at large; Mrs. J. A. Templeton, Fort Worth, recording secretary; Mrs. Marshall Dansby, Bryan, corresponding secretary; Mrs. I. N. Wynn, Mineral Wells, treasurer; Mrs. S. T. Ludlow, Sherman, historian. Secretaries of various causes are Mrs. Edith B. Ramsey, San Antonio, foreign missions; Mrs. O. G. Kuler, Beautmont, Assembly's home missions; Mrs. P. G. Coleman, Colorado, other home missions; Mrs. J. A. Thompson, Taylor, Christian education; Mrs. C. C. Parks, Lancaster, young people; Mrs. W. L. Hickman, Texarkana, literature; Mrs. P. E. Bock, Mineral Wells, spiritual life.

Mrs. C. G. Dullnig, of San Antonio is honorary president. The committee on program consists of Mrs. P. E. Bock, Mineral Wells; Mrs. R. L. Ezzell, Dallas; Mrs. E. B. Ramsey, San Antnio.

One of the matters to come up will be the selection of a location for the establishment of the Texas-Mexican institution for Mexican girls There is a similar institution for boys at Kingsville under Dr. J. W. Skinner and it has met with such marked success that the Presbyterians have decided to establish one for girls also.

Parents who neglect their children's health are responsible for the poor record they make at school. Bad tonsils and adenoids keep hundreds back. Bring them to me for free examination. You may save yourself and your child years of sorrow when their trobule develops into more serious complications that may now be easily removed or remedied.—Dr. Cox, Teague-Mexia. 11-4

Bessie Bacon, to be seen with the all-star cast in "Lightnin" at the Opera House on Saturday, Sept. 29, matinee and night, has a record of 1500 performances in the famous comedy classic. She is a daughter of the late Frank Bacon and was prominent in his support during the first two of its three year's run at the Gaiety theatre, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. John Neece and children returned Tuesday from La Porte where they have been for a week. They will visit with Mrs. Neece's parents Mr. and Mrs. Tracy McKenzie for a few days before going to Dallas where they are making their future home.

Grocery Business Opens In Pittman Building Monday

E. J. Hitt and son Monday opened up a new grocery store at 104-6 North Central Avenue, in the Pittman building. Groceries and feed will both be sold from this one time popular location. In the old days, the block fronting the H. & T. C. railroad, just around the corner from Commerce, was the center of interest to most every farmer who came to town. Since then, no large and up to date grocery has been maintained at the location. Mr. Hitt believes that he can make the place popular again, both for his fellow townsmen and for the growing rural trade. He and his son assure the public that they will set up a stock of goods second to none; that they will give a service above criticism and at reasonable prices. The store is located in one of the fine new business blocks of the city, well lighted at night, on the paving and there is plenty of room for parking purposes all around.

Mr. Hitt is well known here, having been in business in the city for many years and is personally acquainted with a large portion of the population.

Flags At School Work of Members Of City Force

At the McKinney Street school today a beautiful flag is waving to the breezes from the top of a sturdy and tall flag poll. The various city employes, at the city hall, several weeks ago accepted the suggestion made by Principal George Perkins that preparations be made to display "Old Glory" properly this year before the eyes of the future citizens now in school. The members of the water works department supplied the poles and the fire department did the work of setting them up in cement and concrete. They were placed at both ward schools for whites. Superintendent C. A. Puckett expressed much gratification to the men for their thoughtful contribution to a better citizenship.

Con Dell Ellis of Thornton was a visitor Monday in Mexia.

The Garrison Carroll Evangelistic Party arrived yesterday. The first service by this party was held under the big gospel tent last night. Good attendance, good singing, good preaching, and that piano player is a "bear." This revival is being conducted under the auspices of the Baptist church, but it is urged that all Christian people take part in it and make it a city-wide revival. To get the most out of the meeting you should be there each service. May we see you there tonight? The big tent half block east of City Hall. Come!

WOMAN WEARS TROUSERS

By HARRY W. QUITMAN
(Cincinnati Enquirer)

"The woman who lives and poses as a man must wear skirts," said Judge Spiegel. "Despite his ruling she said "I will not wear skirts, I would be a mark for every one on the street if I wore a dress. I am going to wait here until I get my trousers."

This extraordinary spectacle was presented in Police Court about seven years ago. It was only after much persuasion that the young woman was wrapped in a long raincoat concealing her skirt, led to a cab and taken to Algeir's saloon, Reading road, near McMillan street, where she had been employed and where she had been living in male attire.

At the time the woman was arrested, it was alleged that when friends went to aid her during a spell of illness, she fought them. On being sent to the hospital, her sex was disclosed. Judge Spiegel, in dismissing the woman, informed her it was against the law for her to wear men's clothing. She listened in silence but as soon as she left the courtroom she said she would "defy the world," and she did, as she was seen wearing men's apparel long after her trial.

During the trial she wore a mother hubbard wrapper which was supplied by the police. She also wore men's clothes and a man's coat, making an odd contrast. She walked like a man, had the voice of a man and did the work of a man, and for many years she had been employed in a saloon adjacent to the old Fifth Street Horse Market. All of the old-time horse traders knew her, but did not for a moment realize that she was other than a man.

I represented her and in the argument that I made to the Court during her trial, I maintained that the girl had a perfect legal right to wear men's attire if she pleased to do so. There is no statute in the law books of Ohio prohibiting a woman from wearing men's clothes. The law especially defends women in their right to wear any clothing they see fit if the women do so in an innocent and not objectionable manner.

My client was clad as a boy from infancy and the clothing of males seemed the natural clothing for her.

When she reached the age of discretion, her association, environment and circumstances made it impossible for her to discard her masculine garb. she only did that which Dr. Mary Walker did in wearing men's apparel, and for which Dr. Walker received a special dispensation from Congress.

The case of the Cincinnati woman at that time attracted atention throughout this country and many offers were received from muscums and circuses for her services. She refused all offers.

Painful Rheumatic Swelling Disappear

Discoverer Tells Druggists Not To Take a Cent of Anyone's Money Unless Allenrhu Completely Banishes All Rheumatic Pains and Twinges.

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called ALLENRHU, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let suffers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He his therefore instructed druggists everywhere to dispense ALLENRHU with the understanding that if the first pint bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment. All druggists can supply you.—(Adv.)

Grounds Ready For Freestone Fair at Teague

By T. L. CHILDS

TEAGUE, Texas, Sept. 11.—The grounds at city park where the second annual Freestone county fair will open Wednesday for three days, are in ideal condition for this event which promises to eclipse all expectations. Holders of concessions at the fair are swarming over the grounds today preparing their stalls for three busy days. The high price of cotton, together with the fact that the yield in this county is exceeding early estimates and is above the average, causes a feeling of optimism on the part of the fair officials. So many enteries of live stock, poultry, etc., are already on the ground is also the basis for the opinion that an unusually good fair will be held. The poultry exhibit has been found to be so much more than anticipated that an exhibit shed for this alone was found necessary and has already been erected. Committees from several of the local churches have secured concesions to sell cold drinks and to serve lunches on the grounds, and their efforts are expected to insure a large attendance from people living in Teague.

YOUNG DEEP TEST QUIT FOR LUEL

TEAGUE, Texas, Sept. 11.—The deep test for oil which is being drilled at Young, Freestone county, has been shut down for three days on account of lack of fuel. Drilling will be resumed Wednesday, the depth of the hole now being given as 3153 feet, and formation showing that the Woodbine sand is being approached. Some acreage has changed hands in this vicinity recently, and several royalty deals were reported Saturday.

Mrs. C. W. Kennon returned Sunday night from Waco where she has has been in a sanitarium for treatment. Her mother, Mrs. W. R. Tyler, of Belton, accompanied her. Mrs. Kennon is yet unable to be up.

A CALOMEL YOU CAN SAFELY TAKE

Harshness of Ordinary Calomel Eliminated in Pepsinated Calomel, New English Calomel Treatment for Torpid Liver.

How many times have you heard that "calomel is the only sure way to reach the liver?" Your grandfather knew it, your mother knew it, your doctor knows it—you know it yourself! Calomel is the certain way to stimulate liver to healthy activity, but ordinary calomel is so harsh in its consequence that you can hardly be blamed for not wanting to take it.

There is no reason to deprive yourself of the fine effects of calomel since the discovery of Pepsinated Calomel. It is the best imported English calomel treated with pepsin. It has all the cleansing power of English Calomel, (recognized as the standard of purity), with the soothing qualities of pepsin so that you get the full benefit of calomel without griping, nausea or discomfort. Pepsinated Calomel is especially fine for children. They willingly take it when they cannot be bribed into taking disagreeable medicine.

Bennett's Drug Store and all reliable druggists recommend and guarantee Pepsinated Calomel to bring relief between sundown and sunup or your money refunded. Try it—we guarantee you'll feel better tomorrow. (Adv.)

Farrell Sees Chance for Firpo to Win

By HENRY L. FERRALL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—Luis Firpo's only chance to win the heavyweight championship from Jack Dempsey rests in his superior strength, his size and in the natural fighting instinct with which he has been endowed.

Firpo has many bad faults as a boxer, many glaring defects as a technician and it remains to be seen if brute force can be made to exert its utmost with crude means of application.

The South American is a tremendous hitter with his right hand. It is almost safe to say that he will knock out any fighter who leaves himself open to the club-like swings of his powerful right. Had Firpo the knack of snapping his punches and hitting short, he might become a one-punch winner, but as long as he swings he must be content with the longer route to the same goal.

No matter where the punch lands, Dempsey will be hurt every time he finds himself in the way of that right hand. If he blocks the punches with his arms, there is enough drive in the South American to paralyze the muscles, if he gets several on the chin he will go down, and if he takes many in the body, he will be slowed up greatly.

Firpo's bulk will assert itself in the clinches if the South American is smart enough to hold and hang on the champion. He is heavy enough and big enough to tire Dempsey considerably by forcing the champion to hold him up and push him back out of every clinch.

The brute serength of the chellenger also will make itself felt during fighting at close range where Firpo, by superior power, should be able, if he knows how to apply it properly, to block Dempsey with one hand and use the other on the back and under the ear as he has been doing in several of his fights.

Firpo is said to be fond of the "rabbit-punch," but it is not directed at the base, of the skull, as Dempsey uses it. It is a short punch snapped in a clinch at a point right under the ear, along the jawbone. A punch there leads to the same brain nevres that can be reached with a blow on the "button."

Firpo knocked out Brennan with a punche under the ear and he so deadened the muscles of Jess Willard with the same kind of a punch that Willard couldn't get himself off the floor even though he possessed all his mental facilities.

Firpo is a crude boxer. His left thing is the next thing to no good whatever. It is aruged that Carpentier had nothing but a right hand and that when it found Dempsey's jaw in the second round of their fight that it nearly knocked him out.

Carpentier had a left hand, however. There may not have been much power in it, but he knew how to jab and hook with it and he knew also how to block and defend himself with it.

Firpo can't knock Dempsey's punches with his jaw. He will have to have some kind of a defense, and that defense will have to consist of more than a backward lean on his feet. The South American's trainer says that when Firpo stretches himself to his full height, tucks in his chin and leans back, Dempsey can't reach him. That was just what Jess Willard believed and Dempsey reached his jaw and floored him with the very first punch that he started.

A PRETTY LUNCHEON FOR BRIDE-ELECT

A most delightful affair was that which was given by Mrs. Blodgett on Monday for her daughter Leonora. The guest numbered six and were ushered into the dining room where an attractive scene greeted their eyes. The centerpiece was a shower boquet of brides roses and maiden hair fern and lilies of the valley. The guests found their places by dainty place cards which were suspended with a pink ribbon from the chanrilier and on the cards was a verse which read, "Pull my heart string, and you will see my mate to be." Much to their surprise, when they pulled the pink ribbon a little groom with the name, Tommy Costello, fell from the chandilier. Lunchoen was served and the first course was fruit cocktail. The second course consisted of potato chips, olives, pickles, nut sandwiches, salted almonds, chicken salad and ice tea. Then the last course was pink brick ice cream and angle food squares with pink hearts embossed in icing.

Those whe enjoyed this delightful affair were Misses Josephine Mackey, Louise Anderson, Betsye Walters, Josie Lee Maddox.

Billy Murphy is leaving this week for New York and we all hope it will not be for good.

Fined For Drunk Reckless Driving

The police blotter this morning fined yesterday for being drunk and shows that two men were arrested and reckless driving, the amount each paid passed a law making, FqA being $35.90. The last legislature passed a law making it a felony to drive a car while intoxicated, and this makes it a grand jury case, regardless of the fact that a fine has been paid in the city court. This is a wise law and should be enforced to the letter, because a drunk man at the wheel of an automobile is a menace to life and limb and he should be suppressed even if he has to be sent to the pen.

COMING COUNCIL TO MARK NEW ERA IN CATHOLICISM

By CAMILLO CIANAFARRA
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

ROME (By Mail to United Press.)—As is its custom and in keeping with its old traditions, the Holy See is gradually acquainting the world with the true purport and importance of the event which, under the name of Ecumenic Council, is destined to mark a new era in the history of the church and, incidentally, detain in Rome for a long time all the American cardinals and bishops.

The announcement of the Ecumenic Council was made in few words by the Pope himself in allocution delivered at the last secret consistory. The announcement gave no details and it was a month later that the church organs announced that the coming council would easily eclipse the last one, that of 1869-70.

A Long Council.

Such councils, which only the Pope can call and are actually called only when grave questions affecting the church are to be discussed and settled, are very rare events in the history of the Catholic church. In two thousand years only about twenty are registered and the most important one was that of Trent, called by Clement VII. The church was then going through the gravest crisis in its history owing to the advent of Lutheranism and the Reformation. The council, which lasted from 1515 to 1563, and in the course of which five Popes died, sifted the whole dogmatic matter of the church and drafted out the present constitution and the largest part of the canon laws.

The second long one was that of Basle, which sat from 1431 to 1443.

As to the agenda and duration of the coming council, very little has so far been revealed. Catholic officials say that the Pope is enthusiastic and determined to hold the council during his Pontificate.

The opening date is also uncertain, but the Pope has repeatedly told to his collaborators that he will personally receive all the bishops of the world on their visit to Rome in 1925, which is a Jubilee year, and will afterward set the date. Christmas day, 1925, has been suggested as an appropriate day for the opening of the council.

As to the agenda, very little has been said except that this time no dogma would be discussed, and the council would confine itself to religious questions and the education of the Catholic priests.

Last One Hurried.

During the last few days Vatican circles have discreetly hinted at probable important debates. As is known, the council of 1870, besides ratifying the dogma of the Immaculate Conception, and establishing that of the infallibility of the Pope, closed its work in September in great hurry, owing to the capture of the city by the Italian troops and the dethronization of the Pontiff as ruler of the Pontifical States. The council branded the fact as an act of military robbery, and practically bound Pope Pius IX to defend to the last the patrimony of the church.

Vatican prelates explain that the Roman question dates from that day, and that it is only another ecumenic council that can authorize the Pope to renounce the territories once belonging to the church and empower him to sign a treaty of peace with Italy.

Harmonize Policies.

But will the Roman question be placed on the agenda? The question is hard to answer today, but as the council will undoubtedly revise the policies of the church from the point of view of harmonizing them with modern times, a decision on the subject is extremely likely.

As to the duration of the coming council, very little can be said now. The one that closed in 1870 opened late in 1869 and would have continued for some months yet had not the Italian troops entered Rome on the 20th of September. What is certain is that over 1,200 bishops out of the 1,500 existing will be in Rome, and that the council will be presided over by the Pope himself. The proceedings will be strictly secret.

Trousers And Their Upkeep In Round Figures

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 11.—Trousers worn by Marquette University students here cost $180,000 a year. It costs only $1,125 to hold them up.

This is a part of the startling information given out through a pamphlet issued recently by the University Press to its advertisers in the city. The report was compiled by students in different departments of the school and shows that $2,500,000 is a conservative estimate for the total buying power of the student body of 4,300.

Because of the many social functions, at which the students want to appear in their best, clothes make up the biggest item, which is $160,000, while only $1,725 is spent for belts, suspenders, safety pins and other contrivances to hold up trousers.

Eight thousand six hundred pairs of shoes are worn out every year, which adds about $65,000 to the total. It costs students $8,000 more to keep their hands warm and free from being chapped, and $3,000 for hats and caps. Neckties add another $15,000 and their underwear increases the amount by $27,000. About $21,000 is paid out for handkerchiefs.

Although there are but few coeds at the university, the reports which, itemizing the different kinds of clothing, says it costs about $60,000 to keep Marquette coeds in style during a school year.

Soap is listed at costing $4,260, while shaving cream comes to around $8,100. The report figures that each student pays out about $1 a year for tuition. This, of course, does not include the coeds. According to the report, Milwaukee theatres get about $125,000 worth of business during the school year, while confectioners get something like $43,000. Cigarettes are also a big item, being listed at $78,750, and other tobacco at $10,000.

Dempsey and Firpo Savage in Ring

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Crowd psychology, which was expected to have such a big influence over Jack Dempsey when he fought Georges Carpentier in Jersey City, and which did not, hardly will be any kind of an important factor in the champion's coming fight with Luis Firpo, the South American giant.

The fight of neither boxer should be affected by the attitude taken or voiced by the spectators. Firpo will not be able to understand any verbal blows that might be tossed at him from the house, and Dempsey will not give a darn if he is given the razz.

In one respect, Dempsey will not be affected by the reception that he is given. If he should get the jeers and hisses that came after he had been presented to the throng in Jersey City, he will fight just the same. But if strange sounds of a monstrous cheer should come to him, he may fight a tremendously better fight.

Since he won the championship by stopping Jess Willard in 1919 at Toledo, nothing but the raucous notes of the razz have been directed at him. Slacker charges resulting from what he did, or didn't do, during the war and the heavy financial demands he exacted for his services have made him intensely unpopular.

Whether this spirit of animosity on the part of the public is just, is beside the point. The fact is that he has been razzed every time he made his appearance in the ring. He was thought so little of by the people around Shelby that the announcer almost forgot to introduce him after he had devoted several minutes to the glorification of Gibbons.

He was introduced second at Jersey City and after hearing the greatest ovation ever given to a foreign athlete in the United States, he had to stand up under a barrage of hoos and jeers when he was introduced as the American defender of the world's championship.

Through it all, Dempsey remained unmoved. Stung terribly as he must have been around the heart, the champion went out and did his stuff and even after winning it was very little of a hand he ever got.

Many followers of boxing believe that Dempsey will be the popular fighter when he appears for his bout with Firpo. The South American has been held up as a penurious individual, out for the money alone. He hasn't the war record that Carpentier had to endear himself to the professional patriots that have been maligning Dempsey and perhaps the crowd will look upon and support Dempsey as the American representative against a foreigner.

After recovering from the shock that would attend a real good reception, if he gets it, Dempsey probably would fight as he never fought before.

WOULD-BE LADY RAFFLES IS CAUGHT IN HOME OF CORSICANA OFFICER

CORSICANA, Texas, Sept. 11.—A would-be lady Raffles, well dressed and pretty, selected the wrong room to burglarize Sunday morning when she entered the home of Deputy Sheriff E. W. Warnell and started a systematic search of the officer's trousers, which were near his bed. The officer awoke, finding the stranger in his room. She attempted to escape, but Warnell, in the twinkling of an eye, had her handcuffed to the bed post and then proceeded to don his wearing apparel, after which the fair prowler was brought to the county jail, where she now faces a charge of burglary. The captive gave her name and said she arrived from Waco Sunday morning, accompanied by a man, who, she says, told her he was staying at the Warnell home. A search of the prisoner's purse resulted in the finding of between $40 and $50, officers said. The man has not been located.

THE GREAT SCOURGE OF HALF TRUTHS

By JOHN OAKWOOD

A soap-boxer pointed at a great factory. "Who built that factory? Workmen!" he yelled. "Who run the machines? Workmen! Who got the profits? Capitalists!"

* * *

The soap-boxer told a half truth that amounted to a whole lie. His listeners did not know that that particular factory, typical of thousands of others, was a complete refutation of the lie—if only the other half of the truth were told.

* * *

It is true the factory was Capitalized—for a million dollars. The net profits gave annual dividends of 6 per cent, or $60,000; to the stockholders. All that was true.

* * *

But it was also true that the million dollar capital was divided up into ten thousand shares of $100 each. The ownership of these shares was distributed among about one thousand people. Several hundred of them were workmen in the factory. They were saving out of their weekly wages and buying shares on the instalment plan. They were Capitalists.

* * *

It was likewise true that shares were also owned by workmen in other factories, by clerical workers and by small merchants. A good many were also owned by widows and orphans whose modest estates had been wisely invested for them by their bankers. They were Capitalists.

* * *

It was also true that the factory corporation had issued a million dollars in bonds to raise funds to buy the material and pay the wages of workmen to build the factory. These bonds were owned as investments not only by persons of wealth but also by many people of moderate means who had saved out of their wages and salaries. They were Capitalists.

* * *

And it was also true that out of the receipts of the factory before a cent was taken to pay interest on the bonds, before a penny was used to pay dividends on the stock, a good many dollars were used to pay wages to the workmen.

The workmen were Capitalists, too. They were investing in the growth and their talents and their industry—they were putting their work into and out of the [illegible]

NO BOON IN CHEAP MONEY

One thing that has to be given up is the idea that cheap money is always good for business. Farmers want cheap money, business men want cheap money, stock speculators want cheap money, the U. S. Treasury wants to float government loans on cheap money, socialists, anarchists and old-line greenbackers want very, very cheap money. Everybody feels that when the money rate is shoved up it is an arbitrary damper on prosperity.

But we cannot have both a low rate on money and a stable level of prices. We can have one or the other—not both together for any length of time. A low rate of money means an inflated price level. A stable price level means a fluctuating rate of discount. That is, the public must learn to look at the price level instead of the bank reserves, as their measure of expectation for a rise or fall of the value of money.

Now this fact makes me feel that a mistake is made if we do not fully explain to the public the power already exercised by the bank rate and the Federal Reserve Board and Reserve banks. Our bankers and economists see the bad use that is likely to be made of political control of banking and currency and they try to make the people believe that so intricate a question must be left to experts.

As a matter of fact our present methods encourage the very thing we wish to avoid. We let everybody believe that low rates on money are necessary for prosperity and then when bank reserves run low on account of the effects of this belief, we are sorely compelled to jump the rates to protect the reserves. We get both cycle of prices and a cycle of bank rates, whereas, if the public understood that the rise of bank rates should not wait until bank reserves are low, but the rates should be advanced several months ahead for the very purpose of preventing a dull time prosperity with its inflated price level, then the public might be satisfied to support the administrative machinery which raises the rates at a time when there seems to be no need of doing so.—The N. Commons, University of Wisconsin.

[illegible] Pastor Is Called Home

A good [illegible] ended at the tent [illegible] Monday night at 7:45 to attend the [illegible] week night [illegible] protracted meeting [illegible] under the auspices of [illegible] church.

It was stated that [illegible] tent was not [illegible] intended for their home [illegible] revival to stay out [illegible] ing out on the [illegible] the evangelist [illegible] tern down. It was [illegible] that they were [illegible] when later in the day the other tent was found.

The revival is to be conducted by the Garrison Gospel [illegible] party, brought here by the [illegible] of the First Baptist church and their new pastor.

The evangelist made a most favorable impression on [illegible] night and it is expected that a good meeting is to result. The singing was splendid at the service. The Gospel sang a solo that won the hearts of all hearers.

The pastor introduced Rev. Goodson in a happy manner and the latter responded to the introduction by explaining the plan of the party in coming to Mexia. He said that he wanted to hold a revival in Mexia because his evangelistic work and that he had prayed to God to open [illegible] the way and send him here. He stated that he believed that the time was opportune for a glorious and great revival, as he believed it to be the will of God. He explained that the tent pans would be passed for freewill offerings each service which were all to go into a fund out of which the evangelistic party would pay all the expenses. All they asked was their entertainment and then at the close of the revival if it was the wish of the congregation to give a free will offering, that would be accepted. "If you don't want to pay us anything, that will be all right. We will borrow some money from the pastor and get out of town," he stated in his pecular manner.

The evangelist and his companions had arrived only a short while before the hour of meeting last night from Venus where they had just closed a very successful campaign. He was tired, he explained but delivered a strong discourse on "How to have a revival."

He pointed out five things necessary for a revival. At the outset he declared that there was no greater need in Mexia today than for an old fashioned revival of Christian religion. He pointed out that a revival to the church was what education is to culture. Every evil enemy of the church and Christianity in this community will protest, he said, but if Christian people desire a revival, and are willing to [illegible]
